Bansi Gir Gaushala : #1 Gaushala in Bharat - National Kamdhenu Award 2017 (Govt. of India)

Bansi Gir Gaushala is declared as #1 Gaushala in Bharat, with Purity & Trustability of divine Atmosphere in presence of Gir Gaumata's.

Bansi Gir Gaushala

Bansi Gir Gaushala was established in 2006 by Shri Gopalbhai Sutariya as an effort to revive, regain and re-establish Bharat's ancient Vedic culture. In Vedic traditions, the Cow was revered as Divine Mother, the Gomata or Gaumata, and one which bestows health, knowledge and prosperity. In Sanskrit, the word “Go” also means “Light”.

The solution to the world's problems as we see it is both external (material) and internal (spiritual). We believe it is now crucial to raise the “Cow” to her original exalted position of “Gaumata”. With Her blessings, Bansi Gir Gaushala is working as a living laboratory to revive Bharat's ancient Vedic “Go Sanskriti”, and introduce time tested Vedic paradigms in all aspects of modern life, be it nutrition, health, education, agriculture or business. Today, Bansi Gir Gaushala is blessed with over 700 Gaumata's and Nandi's spread across 18 Gotra's of the Gir variety. Under Gopalbhai's leadership, the Gaushala in its scope and function has become a leading centre of excellence in Gopalan. The Gaushala is also breaking new ground with novel formulations in Gau Adharit Ayurveda and introducing new practices in organic farming.

Bansi Gir Gaushala was awarded the Kamdhenu Award in 2017 by the Government of Bharat, and ranked as the No 1 Gaushala in Bharat, owing to the purity and sanctity of its divine atmosphere.

GIR Ahinsak Gau Ghee

Ahinsak – Adheres to ancient Vedic practice of ‘dohan’ where calf is free to feed from 2 ‘Anchals’, while the remaining two ‘Anchals’ are used to obtain milk for other living beings. We also don’t keep our Gaumata’s tied up.

Ethical & Non-exploitative – we never ‘get rid of’ non-lactating Gaumata’s (‘Cow’ as Divine Mother) or Nandi’s (male calves). We don’t employ artificial insemination, hormone treatments or milking machines. We like to see our Gaumata’s as family.

Bilona - Made using 3,000 year old traditional Vedic bilona process – derived from butter of curdled whole A2 milk (instead of just cream) of pure breed Gir Gaumata’s using a slow wood fired flame to retain maximum nutrition.

Non-GMO & Ayurvedic feed - Gaumata’s free to graze in a field nurtured with organic manure, feed is non-GMO and as far as possible organic (for eg organic sorghum plant or non-GMO cotton seeds). Ayurvedic herbs also added to improve vitality of Gomata.

Healthier Gaumata’s – Owing to our Vedic approach, Gaumata’s are healthier, with some lactating at the age of 23 years even after giving birth to 16 calves. We believe this results in much higher quality panchgavya products, consistent with ancient Ayurveda.

Benefits – calms Vata and Pitta dosha’s, feeds ojas, improves strength & intelligence, improves digestion, aerobic performance, vision and fertility. Highly nutritious – Naturally rich in vitamins and beneficial fatty acids.

Natural & hand-made - smell, colour & consistency may vary based on season & feed.

BANSI GIR GAUVEDA

Bansi Gir Gauveda is on a mission to serve humanity by offering highly potent Ayurvedic supplements by exploiting synergies of Cow (“Gau” or “Go”) rearing and Ayurveda. We are part of Banshi Gir Gaushala, a leading centre of excellence in Gopalan (Gau rearing and breeding), and research into Ayurveda and organic farming.

Gaumata is regarded very highly in ancient Bharatiya (Indian) culture and Ayurveda, and its products are considered to be extremely potent, especially when combined with Ayurvedic herbs.

Ayurveda is an ancient health care tradition that has been practiced in Bharat (India) for at least 5,000 years. The word comes from the Sanskrit term Ayur (life) and Veda (knowledge).

Bansi Gir Gauveda is an effort to exploit the synergies between Gaupalan and Ayurveda. Modern science has recognized that Gau based products are bio-enhancers, significantly improving the potency of herbal supplements when they are mixed or processed in them.

Gauveda Aushidhiya Ghrit – what makes it one of the most powerful medicines in Ayurveda?

BANSI GIR GAUVEDA

Bansi Gir Gaushala makes Ghee using the traditional Bilona method from the whole milk of a very rare and special breed Gir Gaumata's.

This Ghee has special medicinal properties. Owing to Gopalan that is in accordance with ancient Vedic principles, this Ghee also possesses unique physical & spiritual qualities.

A combination fresh and aged Ghee is used in the process of preparing Medicinal Ghrit.

This Ghee is then allowed to age in air-tight clay containers.
As per Ayurveda, older Ghee is a very potent medicine in itself.

www.gauveda.com

Herbs are boiled in water and then filtered. This herbal decoction is then mixed in Ghee along with a paste of herbs and boiled on a slow flame. *

This process allows the Ghee to absorb water soluble & fat soluble phytochemicals of the herbs. Ghee is a powerful absorbant. It absorbs healing qualities of herbs without losing its own wonderful healing qualities.

The resultant mix is Medicinal Ghrut – one of the most potent Gau Adharit Ayurvedic formulations.

Bansi Gir Gaushala Medicinal Ghrut formulations are prepared under advice of expert Vaidya's of Bharat, after rigorous trials, testing and licensing procedures. These have given very encouraging results with the blessings of Gomata, largely driven by use of ghee from pure & rare breed of GIR Gomata and stringent paramparik Gopalan.

* The above is a generalized description to explain the principle of herbal Ghee preparation, exact process can vary greatly based on the objective behind making the Medicinal Ghrut.
